PREMIER KING PREDICTS THAT LIBERALS WILL WIN

Liberal Party is Pledged to Senate Reform. Meighen's Protective Policy would tend to Reduce Employment by Restricting Markets. Meighen Would put duty on Coal.

North Bay, Ont., Oct. 14.—"I am not given to political prophecy," Premier King told a North Bay audience last night, "but I am prepared to stake my reputation, as one able to judge a political situation, that there will be more Liberals elected in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Northern Ontario than there were elected in the last election. We have no concern about being returned," Mr. King declared further, "we know that we are going to be returned. What we are concerned about is whether we are going to have a strong enough majority to do the things we want to do for Canada."

"The prime minister predicted practically the entire province of Quebec would go Liberal; that Ontario would demonstrate that it was strongly leaning towards Liberal politics; that the results from the Maritime would be very satisfactory from the Liberal point of view."

He reviewed the government record and its policies. He thought that nothing short of a political revolution would put Mr. Meighen in power on a policy of high protection.

He observed that the Liberal party was pledged to senate reform. "We want to make this clear," Mr. King exclaimed. "We are deciding this not only the fate of the house of commons, but also of the senate for the simple reason that the Liberal party is pledged to senate reform."

Mr. King pledged the point that under the constitution, the senate could be reformed only from the inside. "I cannot ask the governor-general to let me appoint senators," he said, "I can only pray fervently to Providence to take away some of the old ones. The government had recently appointed ten senators to take the place of ten who were 'somewhere else.'"

"In a little while," the prime minister added, "we shall soon have a majority in the senate as we have in the commons, when we get that majority we shall put the matter of senate reform which will be effective for all time to come."

Mr. King argued that Mr. Meighen's protective policy would tend to reduce employment by restricting markets. "We are trying to get wider markets," Mr. King, as he referred to the trade agreement with Australia.

He admitted that as a result of the Australian agreement the price of raisins might go up for a few days or even for a few weeks, but if raisins were to increase in price as a result of the increased duty on foreign raisins, would the effect of Mr. Meighen's policy be to restrict the market?

TWO MORE GAS WELLS STRUCK, VIKING FIELD

Two new natural gas wells have been brought in by the Northwestern Utilities in the Viking field, assuring the city of Edmonton of an adequate supply for this winter, according to an announcement made in the Edmonton Journal. About a month ago, No. 11 well was brought in with a free flow capacity at 9,245,000 cubic feet daily, and last Friday afternoon No. 12 came in with a flow of 7,935,000 cubic feet.

The twelve wells in the field now completed by the company, which incidentally is owned by the International Utilities, Ltd., the same concern which has a controlling interest in the Calgary Gas Company, test more than 61,000,000 cubic feet daily, the article further states. Last winter the company's highest daily consumption was about 13,000,000 cubic feet.

GWYNNE U.F.A.

A special meeting of the Gwynne local of the U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. will be held at Roseland school on Saturday evening, October 17, at 9 o'clock. All members are respectfully requested to be present. This is a special meeting and speakers will address the meeting on behalf of the Progressive candidate, D. W. Warner.

KIWANIS DANCE WAS SUCCESSFUL

The dance given under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club in the Elks' hall on Friday evening last, proved to be a very successful affair. The hall was filled to its capacity, and the happy crowd did not disperse until nearly four o'clock. Bone's orchestra from Red Deer supplied music of the highest quality, and were unrelenting in the number of encores. Specials on the program went by the names of "Frenchie's Minuet," "James' Cauter," "Russell's Rustle" and the "Fritz Roll." It is expected that the winning pool fund will be augmented by nearly $150.00 as a result of the undertaking. J. P. Richards made a very capable ticket collector at the door. It is expected that the pool will be in operation next season.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS SESSION

The monthly meeting of the public school board was held on Thursday evening last with all the members in attendance.

Accounts to the amount of $327.50 were passed for payment.

The secretary submitted a statement showing the amount of high school fees paid. It is expected that the few outstanding accounts will be paid shortly without placing them in the hands of the solicitor for collection.

The secretary was instructed to reply to a communication from the Camrose board as to the cost of operating the Wetaskiwin schools, etc.

Action on two letters—from the Edmonton school board and the Calgary board—respecting the charging of a higher fee for non-resident pupils was held over until next meeting. It was pointed out that the fee now charged only paid a small portion of the cost per pupil.

Meeting adjourned.

NORTHERN DRUG CO. WINDOW WINS PRIZE

The Parker Fountain Pen Co., making the well known Duofold pen, have recently completed a window display contest open to all their agents in Canada. The Northern Drug Co. entered a window in this contest, and a telegram from the company speaks for itself. It is as follows:

Toronto, Oct. 7, 1925

Northern Drug Co.
We heartily congratulate you on the very beautiful window which the board of judges selected out of the hundreds competing in the Parker window display contest, as winner of the second prize of $25.00.

Parker Fountain Pen Co. Ltd.
The make-up of the window was original, and speaks very highly for the ability of the Northern Drug Co., as agents for Parker Pens.

EDMONTON BULLETIN WILL RESUME DAILY ISSUE ON THURSDAY

Edmonton, Oct. 13.—The Edmonton Bulletin will resume daily publication on Thursday next. The paper suspended operations on June 19, and although negotiations have taken place at intervals since that time, nothing official was announced until Monday morning.

Charles E. Campbell, former Vancouver newspaper proprietor, announces that he is "the sole owner and publisher of the Edmonton Bulletin."

TUXIS BOYS ORGANIZE

The other boys of the United church at a recent meeting organized a Tuxis Square. The officers elected were: Praetor—Victor Chandler. Deputy Praetor—Herman Thomas. Scripser—Robt. Meredith. Comptor—Morgan French. Mentor—Mr. Ivan Casey.

Several committees were appointed to attend to different phases of the work of getting started. Among these was an initiating committee of adults, Messrs. Marshall, Griffiths, Chandler, V. C. French, and J. F. Ellis. The initiation will take place at Wesley hall on Tuesday, October 20, at 7:30 p.m.

REV. W. H. IRWIN NEW MINISTER AT MACLEOD

Macleod, Alta., Oct. 14.—The United Church of Macleod has extended a unanimous call to the Rev. W. H. Irwin to become their minister. The call was accepted by Rev. Mr. Irwin.

LIBERAL

THE DETECTIVE FINDS MORE CLUES

My friend, the detective, has been my companion for another month. I think I have learned considerable from him. He hunts for the truth, and gives no favors. With him, "handsome is what handsome does." He goes even farther than that: "Handsome would do handsomely if it had the chance."

He says there is a great lack of appreciation of the dairy cow, so many farms have a cow or two and some several that would do so much better than they do if they had the chance. So long as the cow gets enough of something to fill her up and in some cases not even that, it is taken for granted that man has done his part. In fact, the hog gets much better treatment in many cases.

Nearly everybody seems to think it necessary to give the hog grain, but not the cow. In feeding the cow why, no, "cows will do to eat grass, hay, straw, etc." If they get grain we would never see it again."

Of course, there are too many cows that would give very little return if grain were fed to them, but there are too many cows not getting grain that would give handsome returns for it through the pail.

Why do we keep cows? Is it not that we may produce through them? If we can market feeds through the cows at a better profit than marketing it through the elevator, is it not enough to do so? Even if we have to buy feed to balance the cow's ration, and she gives a handsome profit on it, is it not good business to do so?

The detective does not see any wisdom in buying high producing stock and giving it scrub treatment. It will soon be no better than the scrub.

The detective found a cow early in July producing 67 pounds of butterfat during that month. She had the capacity for high production. He advised feeding her some grain as she could not keep up such a production on grass alone. The owner could not see the necessity of feeding her anything but the grass. In her August test she dropped to 42 pounds of butterfat, or a drop of over 36 per cent in one month, where she should not have been over ten per cent. Her stomach could not hold enough grass to furnish the nutrients for so much milk or butterfat, so she needed some more concentrated feed. About the worth of chop a day would have held her within the 49 per cent mark.

The prevailing price of butterfat there would have been $3.00 clear profit on the transaction, and that is not all the story. Her productive power should have been retained for month after month if she had received the necessary feed.

The detective advises feeding cows and heifers better when springing the udder. He noted some heifers in one particular herd that freshened when the pastures were very poor. So far as udders were concerned they would have but one rock salt for dairy cows. He would like to see the man that invented it have to use it on his own table. Of course, the cows can not use so much of it, that is granted; and if you are keeping the cows, you have to use it. If you want them to keep you, it is just about necessary that you furnish them with all the granulated salt they can use.

Do you want this detective to visit your farm. If so, see or write J. H. Cook, Millet, Alberta, the cow tester for Millet, Wetaskiwin and Bittern Lake.

The detective's name is "Babcock Test."

POPULAR BRIDE GIVEN SHOWER

A kitchen shower was given last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ed. Dye, in honor of Miss Gertrude Romie, a bride of the near future. The evening was spent in vocal and instrumental music. Miss Oriel presented the guest of honor with the many gifts arranged in a nicely decorated wagon with bride-dressed doll, after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostess. The guests included, Mrs. J. P. Johnson, Mrs. L. Hanna, Mrs. C. W. Wain, Mrs. C. Condie, Mrs. F. Atkinson, Mrs. Moon, Mrs. Bradenberger, Mrs. Brookfield, Miss S. Gallekson, Miss M. Whitfield, Miss E. Billsten, Miss E. Shantz, Miss F. Calne, Miss A. Stromsen.

SEEKS DAMAGES FROM RAILWAY

General damages of $10,000 and special damages of $1,000 for loss of business are being claimed for malicious prosecution by Max Mecklenburg, optician, of Edmonton, against the Canadian Pacific railway. A statement on his case was filed in the supreme court office by Macdonald & Richardson on Monday morning.

The plaintiff claims that in March, 1923, a C.P.R. investigation agent, J. C. Webber, laid an information to the provincial police that the had unlawfully sold five C.P.R. tickets to Calgary some time between December 14, 1922, and February 1, 1923. Max Mecklenburg, who was at Vegreville on March 23, 1923, was arrested and brought back to Edmonton, where he was placed in police cells.

Later on he was brought before Magistrate Primrose in the police court and discharged on instructions from the C.P.R. office at Calgary that the complaint had been laid against the wrong man, and that it should have been issued against one Harry Mecklenburg—Journals.

BOY LOSES FINGERS WHEN CAP EXPLODES

A serious accident took place on Monday evening at Hillside, near Eugene, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Murr had a part of his left hand blown off by the explosion of a detonator cap. He also had his face potted up with powder. The boy was riding horseback at the time, and it is not definitely known just what caused the explosion. He was rushed to the Wetaskiwin hospital where a portion of the hand was removed, leaving one finger and part of another on the left hand. He is getting along as well as can be hoped for under the circumstances.

IF WEATHER HOLDS THRESHING OVER IN THIS WEEK

Edmonton, Oct. 14.—If present fine weather holds, this week will practically see the termination of the threshing season in the majority of districts in the north.

No damage resulted from the brief interruption due to wet weather last week, the grain grading well in most cases.

Reports from threshers will be coming to the government within a short time, so authentic averages as to yields will then be available.

Within a few days the season's unusually heavy potato crop in this district will be safely taken care of.

733 FORMER CANUCKS RETURN FROM STATES

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—The following statement with regard to the return of Canadians from the United States has been issued by the department of immigration:

Seven hundred and thirty-three former Canadians who have lived in the United States more than six months, returned to Canada in the first nine days of October, to make their permanent home here, according to statistics compiled by the department of immigration and colonization.

The largest number of immigrants entered Canada from the United States and the entry of tourists and other immigrants reached a total of 376,255.

TO MAKE PULP AND PAPER FROM ALBERTA STRAW

Trade Commissioner of Alberta gives Interesting and Enlightening Address to Kiwanis Club. Fifty acres of Wheat Straw would realize about $250.00. Experiments have been Successful.

The Kiwanians of the city had a very enjoyable time at the weekly luncheon Tuesday evening, with several samples of newspaper paper, pulp board, wrapping paper, insulating paper, sheathing paper, carton board, etc., made from straw, which were very interesting. The increased demand for newspaper alone has nearly exhausted the forest supply of the mills originally established in the United States so that the raw material is not adequate to supply even one-half of the newspaper consumed there annually.

In the year ending June 30, 1925, the U.S. imported from Canada alone 1,497,536 tons of newspaper, and in addition she imported one and one-half million cords of pulp wood and about 150,000 tons of ground pulp wood, all of which went into her newspaper supply. The paper industry of Canada uses annually upwards of five million cords of pulpwood. This means that one million acres of forest lands are entirely denuded every year by the paper industry alone. The development of plants for the manufacture of paper and paper products from waste straw is therefore a means to improve the natural and conserve products.

For some time satisfactory experiments have been going on in the For and it has been proven that straw can be made into paper products. From the fields of Alberta was most advantageously suited to the manufacture of pulp and paper products.

As a result of the success of these tests the government employed a well known pulp and paper engineer to make a local survey of the conditions which were necessary for the commercial success of a plant in the province. The following points were considered: 1.—The availability of the straw within an economic radius; 2.—availability and cost of salt and sodium sulphate; 4.—railway facilities and freight rates; 5.—labor conditions; 6.—water and sewage facilities. An exhaustive report on these subjects has been received by the government covering a number of points in the province.

It is evident that within an available radius of the cities there is ample straw to make the production of plants of up to 100 and 200 tons daily capacity. It is estimated that a farmer with fifty acres of wheat straw would realize from $200 to $250 for it.

The only chemicals used in quantity in the process of manufacture are salt, sodium sulphate and sulphur. The first two commodities are available in unlimited quantities in the province, and all paper plants in America must import sulphur.

The investigations which have been carried on have shown that the greatest possible importance not only to agriculture in Alberta but to the general industrial development within the province. It is important to the farmer in that it opens a market for what is now waste product. It will assist in the stabilization of farm labor due to the fact that straw can be moved to the mill at the convenience of the farmer. It will assist in the development of the salt industry. It will mean the opening up and development of one of the lakes of sodium sulphate in the province. It will add materially to the consumption of coal, and it will employ a considerable number of men both skilled and unskilled, throughout the year, as a paper plant operates 24 hours a day for 200 days a year.

The government have expressed the fullest confidence in the success of such an enterprise and are now making an effort to interest capital in the proposal to establish a plant or plants in this province.

Kiwanian George James gave a report on behalf of the dinner committee and Kiwanian Donald Ross outlined the entertainment to be put on in the near future. Kiwanian V. C. French presided.

Present members are reminded that the next regular meeting will be held on October 20.

BIBLE INSTITUTE FOR WETASKIWIN

The Swedish Baptists of Alberta will have their bible school at Wetaskiwin during the coming winter. The institute will open on January 19, and will be continued for six weeks. The secretary reports that work has been received from Rev. P. Alfred Peterson, stating that he will likely obtain leave of absence from his church at Kirkenæs, Minn., to teach again at the Institute.

The boys who attended the conference at Wetaskiwin on October 10th and 11th, were greatly delighted with the program throughout. Mr. Hendry, the general provincial leader of boys' work, got the hearts and ears of the boys at the opening session and everything went along with a happy swing.

Mr. H. R. French, president of the Kiwanis Club, addressed the boys, and in a very interesting manner pointed to a larger life in the boys' work, got the hearts and ears of the boys at the opening session and everything went along with a happy swing.

Mr. E. E. Chandler, police magistrate, addressed the boys on the pitfalls by the way, and endeavored to show the path toward that is a life of honor and usefulness. Rev. J. J. James addressed the boys on the great ideals of life taking as his subject "The Boy and the Church."

The Ladies' Aid of the United church supplied a most elaborate and beautiful banquet to which about 40 boys sat down. A vote of thanks was given by the boys and expressed their appreciation of the boys.

Messrs. Casey and Elliott assisted in the conference throughout. A local Taxis Square formed at the conference will meet each Tuesday in Wesley hall at 7:30 p.m.

The conference officers were: Praetor—Victor Chandler. Deputy Praetor—W. Macfarlane. Scripser—Jim Dickson. Comptor—Daniel Wink.

Newfoundland's fishing grounds are the richest in the world.

CLUB NEW-KAS-TEW NOTES

Young women desiring to become members of the Club New-Kas-Tew, will kindly submit their names to the officers before October 31, as the club is admitting new members just once this season.

Present members are reminded that the next regular meeting will be held on October 20.

S. G. Tobin Favors
Railway Extension

The Calgary Albertan made the following reference to a speech of Mr. Tobin in the Alberta Legislature, which gives his stand on the railway question:

"Stanley G. Tobin, of Leduc, one of the most valuable members of the House, made what is regarded as an ideal speech by a member in opposition. It was moderate, clear and well delivered. It gave praise where praise was due. It was quite free from bitterness or any kind of animosity; it criticized where criticism was needed. It was in every respect a fine example to the house. Mr. Tobin is one of the oldest members of the House, year in and year out he has been devoting his attention and energy to get railway extension through the west of his riding. There is a railway running northwest of Lacombe. It has only progressed a short distance, and is too short to be a paying proposition to the government which operates it. The government is good reason to believe that this railway, if extended, would pay, which it can never do as long as it continues to be the hotbed of loss which it is at present. Mr. Tobin has always urged extension."

Premier Wants
Strong Majority

Again and again the importance has been emphasized of the party in power in this country having a strong majority. Without it no legislation of real and lasting benefit to Canada can be implemented without great loss of time and much unnecessary discussion and debate. Premier King has felt this and referred to it on not a few occasions. He has before the duty of everyone who regards the duty of everyone who regards the Liberal party as the political hope of this country to rally to the standard of the Premier in the coming election and put him in the position to carry his policies to fruition—policies which have been endorsed by the majority of these electors of Canada. He has long felt that the present situation is intolerable, and as a man of independent spirit as well as of political sagacity, he naturally asks for an increase of strength and not barren victory. To the farmer, in particular, he puts the pertinent question: "Is there any of your wishes or demands that we cannot meet better than the Opposition which is now clamoring for office?" The outstanding fact is that if really broad and Liberal policies are to be carried out, there must be no division or hesitation in the ranks of the party led by Mr. King. There must be a strong spirit of harmony so that attempts by the Conservatives to split the Liberal vote upon side or local issues shall not be successful.

Conservatives Would Increase Products Duty

Everyone who is interested in the cost of living cannot but be interested in the assertion made by the Hon. Arthur Meighen that he will put the duty on farm products to the rate of the United States in the first three months that he is returned to power, if successful at the polls. The people of the Dominion today are naturally interested in such problems as immigration, taxation, the railway situation and many others but the great question with most of them is how to make ends meet; how to balance the weekly budget. Anything that increases the expenses of the average household is a matter of grave concern to its head and to add to the cost of living seems to be a poor appeal to the average elector. If, as Mr. Meighen suggests, the country is going to the dogs and is facing big ruin, it would seem to be an inopportune time to make the situation worse by adding to the taxpayers' burden. He talks about Canada being compelled to go to the United States. What could drive them faster than a reduction in the purchasing price of a dollar? But, as a popular Liberal organizer said on one occasion: "Conservative statesmen believe that every cent they fail to extract from the pocket of the taxpayer is just so much lost." Mr. Meighen cannot divorce his mind or his political viewpoint from the old vicious principle of class legislation, giving one person or group the privilege of exploiting another, the latter in turn being privileged to put the screws on another section of the people. Canadians today need every dollar they can either earn or save. We are on the eve of better times if the party of progress and advancement is allowed to continue in office. If not we shall certainly return to the days, yea, under the Meighen regime, people fled the country to which they are now returning.—Exchange.

Whistling the Same Old Tune

The high tariff party, the Conservatives, in this campaign are making the same old and inconsistent charges against the Liberal party on the tariff. They say the Liberals are out-and-out free traders, and they will, if returned to power, close every factory, bankrupt every manufacturer and drive every working man to the United States or the poor house.

Confronted by the fact that the Liberal party has been in control of the government for nineteen out of the past twenty-nine years and that none of these terrible things have happened, the Conservatives turn right about face and say that the Liberals are high protectionists and make no changes in the tariff as they found it in 1916.

Obviously, both charges cannot be true and as a matter of fact, neither is. The Laurier government in 1897 made a downward revision of the tariff, transferred many commodities from the dutiable to the free list, and gave a preference to imports from England which has been gradually increased from 12½% to nearly 50%—on the contrary there followed the greatest industrial development Canada has ever known. Two years ago, when the duties on agricultural implements were lowered, the high tariff supporters said that the grain would grow on the streets of Toronto; her people would be reduced to beggary, the Massey Harris and other great manufacturing concerns would remove their plants to the United States.

Just why the Massey Harris or other concerns of that kind should move to the United States is hard to explain, because they already have free and unrestricted access to the American market. Agricultural implements of every kind and description enter the United States duty free. But the Massey Harris company did not move to the United States. They are doing a bigger business than they were two years ago. The president of the Massey Harris company has recently accepted a position in Premier King's cabinet. Would Mr. Massey be an ardent supporter of the tariff and ruin his business? The city of Toronto is growing by leaps and bounds, as is every other manufacturing centre in eastern Canada.

WHERE PEOPLE BUY

People go to the stores to buy; but people decide in their own homes, by their own firesides, under their own reading lamps, what store to go to. At home the feet are not tired, crowds do not distract, decisions are unharmed. Newspapers and catalogues are perused with deliberation. Live merchants know this and are more and more presenting their offerings through the medium of printed matter which can be studied at home. No printed matter enters the home that is more closely read than the home paper. The advertiser in the home paper is making a direct appeal to the buying need, and newspaper readers should appreciate the direct message which is thus being made by home people to home people.

The next few months are the buying months of the year and live merchants are presenting their wares before the public through the medium of the home paper.

THE ORIGINAL COCKNEY

The city man came down to breakfast red-eyed and pale. "A quiet country holiday?" he grumbled to the farmer's daughter. "Why the pandemonium was awful. Nothing like it was ever heard in the town. Dogs barked, pigs grunted, roosters crowed, horses neighed—no, I did not sleep a wink."

The pretty daughter of the farmer gave a little laugh. "You city people have such nerves!" she said. "None of you can stand our pastoral repose. You are like the Cockney."

"What Cockney?" he asked. "The first, the original Cockney," she replied. "He left London, just like you to spend his holidays in the country, and just like you, the noises wouldn't let him sleep. He said at breakfast that the wind was howling had been something awful. And, as he talked, a cock crowed."

"That's the one that the feller. He's been neighing like that all night," he said.

"And ever since that time," she said, "Landowners have been called cockneys."

ELECTION NOTES

Be sure your name is on the voters' list.

Joe LaFrance, former bank manager at Ponoka, has been nominated to contest the riding of Red Deer in the Conservative interests.

The general qualifications in every constituency: Any male or female, who is a British subject, 21 years of age, and who has ordinarily resided in Canada for 2 months, and in the riding for two months before the issue of the writs, is qualified to vote.

The Alberta Electoral division has 16 ridings as follows: Peace River, Athabasca, Vegreville, Camrose, Battle River, Acadia, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Macleod, Bow River, Red Deer, Wetaskiwin, Edmonton East, Edmonton West, Calgary East, Calgary West.

The voters' lists for Wetaskiwin are now posted, and contain over one thousand names. If your name does not appear on the lists, and you are entitled to a vote, you should see the enumerator at once. The enumerators are Mr. Leonard Proden for Wetaskiwin East, and Mr. L. D. Montgomery for the west side.

The Liberals in the Wetaskiwin riding made a happy and wise selection when they chose Stanley G. Tobin as candidate in the coming struggle. He is one of the ablest members of the legislature, and a very popular citizen. He is a man of high ideals and good attainment, experienced in public affairs. He has been in the legislature since the election of 1913.

—Calgary Albertan.

The next parliament will have an increase of 10 members, 245 instead of 235. The west will have 12 new seats. Quebec will have the usual number, 65. Prince Edward Island will have 4, New Brunswick 11, Ontario 92 as usual, Yukon 1, Nova Scotia 14 instead of 16, Manitoba will have 17, Saskatchewan 21, Alberta 16 instead of 12, and British Columbia 14.

A rumor is in circulation that it is the intention of Stanley G. Tobin, the Liberal candidate, to retire in favor of D. W. Warner, the U.F.A. candidate. This report is absolutely without foundation, and was evidently started with the intention of injuring Mr. Tobin's campaign. Mr. Tobin will be right in the contest until the last vote is counted, and after the ballots are polled he expects to be the M.P. for the Wetaskiwin constituency.

The recent paragraph in the papers to the effect that Mr. King and Mr. Meighen were born in the same year, entered the university together, and were returned in the same year to parliament, prompts a contemporary to predict another coincidence, namely Mr. King will be elected, and Mr. Meighen defeated, on the same day and at the same hour, on October 29.—Vegreville Observer.

The only voters' lists that can be used are those certified by the registrars, whose business it is to make up and compile lists of voters in each polling division in the electoral district, with the additions made by revising officers in urban polls. Therefore, when the electoral writ issues, all voters in town and country should find out at once who are the registrars and see that lists are fully made up and that their names are on it.

Prince Edward Island is the most fully cultivated province or state in all America.

The greatest irrigation scheme the world has ever known is nearly completion on the Sutlej river, in India.

NOT SO CALLOUSED

There are pessimistic ranters who denounce the human race, saying man forever cannot to and from the marketplace, always keen to make a killing, only happy, only thrilling when he mails another shilling, all his aims and objects base. True, we are intent on gaining every kopeck that we can, always striving, always straining, following a thrifty plan; when we see a coin we grab it as a coyote snags a rabbit. It's a grim ancestral habit deep ingrained in modern man. Thus we go when things are normal, chasing after useful scads; in a manner most informal putting crimps in other lads; buying things when they are cheaper, selling when the price is steeper, wrestling from their transient keeper silver dollars of our duds. But behold a town is stricken by tornado, flood or fire; and our jaded spirits sicken of the normal day's desire; let us go where help is needed, let bags of coin be speckled where the normal's superseded by disaster, black and dire. And we ask of one another "is there more that we can brother, who is in misfortune's slough; and there goes for every quarter money till our wads are shorter and the pessimist exhorter has a little quail or two. It is good, this cheerful giving, done with fanfare or by stealth, for it justifies our living and our keen pursuit of wealth; it is good the merits to master so that when there comes disaster we can shell out fast and faster; it improves our moral health.—Walt Mason.

STRENGTHEN THE HEART
STEADY THE NERVES

By The Use of
Milburn's Heart and Nerve
PILLS

Mrs. J. Glebe, Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I think it only right to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. For the past 18 months I suffered with my heart, and the least little bit of housework I did would cause me to faint away. My heart would beat very fast, and my nerves seemed to be all unstrung. I resorted to aromatic spirits of ammonia, as a heart stimulant, but after taking it I would become deathly sick. Finally, I was recommended to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and I can truthfully say that I am a different woman since taking them. I can now do my own housework without the least exertion, and I am feeling fine in every way."

It is N. Pills have been put up by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, for the past 32 years.

SATISFACTORY SALE
HELD BY SHEEPMEN

Lacombe, Oct. 10.—The eighth annual sheep sale held under the management of the Central Alberta Wool Growers' association, on the Lacombe agricultural grounds, Wednesday, was a decided success in spite of the unfavorable weather and bad roads. Bidding was brisk and good prices were realized.

The sale of 638 lambs and ewes amounted to $5309; 129 wethers realized $10.75 per hundredweight; 25 pure bred Hampshire ewes averaged $16 per head; 59 rams sold for $14.65, or at an average of $28.13 per head. Total sales, with the exception of wethers, amounted to $10,396.25.

The highest prices were as follows: Shropshire rams, $60, $52.50, $40; Suffolk rams, $50; Oxford rams, $54; $47.50 and $41. The highest price paid for grade ewes was $11.15. The sale averaged 35 cents per head better than the price that prevailed last year.

A total of 1000 sheep were entered at this sale, and they were all sold. It is one of the most successful sales ever held under the management of the association. Clarence F. Dameron of Bentley, was the auctioneer and made a good clean-up of all the entries.

Who Gets Your Hand Bills?

You pay out good money for a lot of paper stock, and more good money to have your message printed on it.
Then comes the problem of reaching your prospects. Mailing out circulars is expensive and they usually reach the waste-basket without even being opened at that.
The next best way is to give Willie or Jimmie half a dollar and an armful of circulars with strict orders to shove one under every door in town.
Willie (or Jimmie) does nobly until the temper comes along to inform him "they're bitin' swell down to Skinner's Creek," and your precious circulars are delivered in one big expensive bunch—into some ash barrel!
That same amount of money invested in newspaper space in The Times would bring better and surer results.
It is the only medium through which you can really reach the people of this community. Going into almost every home and being read by an average of five people to each family, you can readily see the value of newspaper space in reaching the greatest number of prospective customers.
Advertise in this newspaper and reach the nine out of every ten who do not read or receive your handbills or circulars.
Have our Advertising Man call and show you what a sure result-bringer our newspaper space is, especially when we furnish you the ads and cuts.

TOWN TOPICS

Fred Block has started a dray business in the city.

J. W. Somers and R. S. Murray are spending a week or so in the vicinity of Hughenden on a goose shooting expedition.

Mr. Smith, inspector of high schools in the province, is in the city this week inspecting the Wetaskiwin high school.

Mrs. Hingston left a few days ago for High River, where she will spend some time visiting her daughter, Mrs. McGrandle.

The Liberal committee rooms during the election contest are in the rooms between the Driford hotel and the Criterion apartments.

B. M. Parker went to Edmonton Wednesday to attend the banquet of the Retail Merchants association, and to attend to business affairs.

Miss Rankin of Edmonton arrived in the city on Friday last to accept a position as stenographer in the office of the Johnson Agencies.

Messrs. C. H. Rowcliffe and R. Parkinson, of Kelowna, spent the week end in the city visiting at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Thos. Lawson.

Miss Mina Knowlan, who is employed in the government offices, Edmonton, spent the week end in the city visiting her parents and other friends.

H. Mellor-Langdale, A.R.C.M., L.L.E., of Edmonton, was in the city Wednesday arranging to conduct classes in music. See his advt. elsewhere.

Mayor Sharpe of Stettin spent a few hours in the city on Tuesday renewing old acquaintances. He and Mrs. Sharpe were on a motor trip to Edmonton.

Bud Herie and friend, Jack Reimer, of Detroit, arrived in the city last week to spend a short vacation visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Herie.

The friends of Earl Garlough are glad to know that he was successful in passing the examination he wrote at Kingston last summer. He received the information a few days ago.

A. B. Lord was at Calgary this week attending the funeral of the late W. A. Stickle. Mr. Lord and the late Mr. Stickle were playmates as boys, and have always been very intimate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, who have occupied the parsonage for some time, have moved to the residence, corner of Beatrice and Thistle streets. The parsonage is now occupied by Mrs. J. F. Fowler and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Freeman.

The radio fans were quite disappointed Wednesday when they learned that the final game in the world's series had been called off on account of rain. The contest runs the limit, as Washington and Pittsburgh have each won three games.

Mrs. Wm. L. Niles, of Merriton, Ont., and Misses Ethel P. Niles and May Carter of New York, who have been spending the past four months at Mac-Mo-Do Beach, left for their homes on Sunday evening. Mrs. Niles is the mother of our townsman, Chet Niles.

The work at the Driford hotel is progressing nicely, as the new plate glass windows have been installed in the stores in the block. The appearance of the hotel has been greatly improved and the business places now have up to date windows in which to display the goods.

W. Forbes, of the Land Titles' office, Calgary, arrived in the city on Wednesday to spend a few days' vacation shooting in this community. Mr. Forbes, with Messrs. P. A. Miquelon and Chet Niles, will make their headquarters at the latter's cottage at Mac-Mo-Do Beach while bagging their game.

Joe Mullin left for Detroit Monday evening, and expects to make his home in that city. Joe was considered the best man between the nets in the hockey league, and his departure will be a decided loss to the Wetaskiwin hockey team. OBITUARY

MRS. KARA CARBEL

Mrs. Kara Carbel, who has been living with her daughter, Mrs. C. Rad, eight miles north of Wetaskiwin, for some time, passed away on Tuesday last, at the age of seventy-three years and two months. The late Mrs. Carbel was born in Sweden, and spent several years in the United States, after which she came to Canada and lived for some time in the district of Amisk. She had been suffering with cancer and her death was not unexpected.

Service was conducted at the residence on Wednesday by Rev. Mr. Meyer, and the remains were conveyed to Amisk on the midnight train, where they will be interred in the family plot beside those of her husband, who pre-deceased her thirteen years ago.

TEN COMMANDMENTS OF FIRE PROTECTION

In view of the fact that this is the time for fire protection, the following come not amiss:

- 1.—Have all flues and chimneys properly cleaned before attempting to use them.
- 2.—Look very carefully at the chimney or flue, at the point just above the peak of the roof when the chimney goes through, as the lower part may have settled and the upper portion, being held up by the roof timbers, may have pulled away, leaving an open space or break in the chimney that will permit sparks slipping through into the attic or concealed space.

- 3.—Be sure that all fire holes that are not to be used this year have good metal stops, as inflammable fumes are caused by sparks through papering over unused pipe holes in chimneys.
- 4.—Clean the ventilating collars around all flues, remove all line, cobwebs and dust, leaving nothing in the ventilator, in this way permitting the air to cool the pipe where it goes through.

- 5.—Be careful that the supply of kindling wood is not piled up in the yard in such a manner as to carry fire to your house, in case your neighbor's house should burn.
- 6.—It is best to keep all lightweight kindlings and boxes in sheds, stables or basements, in orderly piles, and not to have papers or excelsior mixed with it.

- 7.—Extra caution should be used in the handling of gasoline. In the winter all windows and doors are closed, eliminating the possibility of the air blowing the inflammable vapors away.
- 8.—Never use gasoline inside the house for cleaning, and when compelled to use it for any other purpose do not forget that you are handling a powerful explosive which may endanger your life and property.

- 9.—Remove all dry grass and leaves from your premises before some one carelessly throws a match away.
- 10.—Do not dry clothing and inflammable materials above or near hot stoves.

If you will obey the above commandments, you can prevent many fires and much loss of life and property.

Your printing should be done in good taste if you are to be satisfied with it. The printing executed at The Times office will compare more favorably with that of other printing plants.

Three years ago, the Manufacturers Record, of Baltimore, sent out a questionnaire to men of prominence all over the United States for the purpose of finding out their views on the Prohibition amendment and the enforcement law. Of those who sent replies the majority favored prohibition. Quite recently the same journal sent another questionnaire to those who three years ago, favored prohibition. Among those consulted are some of the largest employers of labor in the States, as well as bankers, physicians, educators and the like. They were asked if, in the light of experience they had changed their views on prohibition, and the enforcement of the laws bearing on it. The enquiry showed that not a single man has discarded his original views and adopted others. The editor's conclusion is that "despite the tremendous influence of the propaganda that is going on against prohibition these men are more enthusiastically in favor of the 18th amendment than they were when it was first adopted."

"We expect always to be opposed by the enemy of truth, but when the idea of personal liberty is opposed to national welfare can be so blatantly proclaimed and so loudly applauded by otherwise respectable citizens as it was during the recent campaign and where the spirit of 'it matters not to me' possesses so many of our citizens, it would indicate that the Christian spirit is not gripping the heart of the people as it should."—Louise C. McKinney.

"Peace on earth, good will to men." The old world is hungering for just this truth. But let us not for a moment imagine that this means making a truce with evil. It means that the spirit of Christ must enter the lives of His children and through them drive from the world all that hinders peace and good will, all that would hurt and destroy, and every form of evil that would bring into bondage even the weakest of our fellows, must be driven out."—Louise C. McKinney.

The Conservative Policy

The following is the resolution embodying the Conservative Fiscal Policy, moved by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, in the House of Commons on the 2nd day of June, 1925:

"That, in the opinion of this House, to meet the situation which has resulted from a strengthening in late years of the protective system the world over particularly in the United States; to give new life to industry and productive enterprise; to preserve and stimulate the development of Canadian resources by the Canadian people and thus create employment for our workers; to increase the traffic of our railways by which alone an all-round reduction of freight rates can be secured; and, as well, to provide added revenue and thus bring about a reduction of internal taxation, this Dominion requires an immediate revision of the Canadian tariff on a definitely and consistently protective basis.

"That such revision should apply to natural products such as farm products, fish, and coal with no less thoroughness than to manufactured goods.

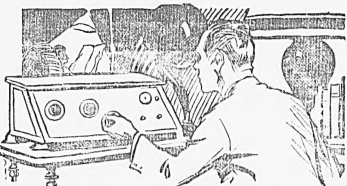

"That the same end steps should be taken to conserve for Canadian development our essential and irreplaceable resources in material and power.

"That while every effort should be directed toward the establishment of a system of preference for preference within the empire, no preference should be given at the expense of the Canadian worker and all preference should be conditional on the use of Canadian ports.

"That a tariff commission should be appointed representative of the three great classes of Canadian industry, agriculture, manufacturing and labour, and be entrusted with the duty of studying Canadian tariff problems in their every bearing and of making from time to time such recommendations to the government as it deems in the general public interest, with the reasons therefor, and with power also, where it finds unfair advantage is being taken of protective duties, of making recommendations to be given effect by the government for removing or reducing tariff schedules or imposing special excise taxes upon products in respect of which such advantage is taken, and that its reports, findings, recommendations and reasons therefor be given to the public.

"That to enable the products of the western and Maritime provinces to reach more readily the markets of the developed special transportation burdens borne by these provinces should be shared by the whole Dominion either by contribution to long haul freight costs or by assistance in some other form."

WADE'S WORK-SAVER

Ennie Wade peeped into the old pitcher with the chipped nose and broken handle, hoping that among the residue of coppers which it contained she might find a gleam of silver. But there was no silver. She set the pitcher back on the shelf and stood studying the bill which Potter the grocer had just sent over by his boy. At the end of a long list of items was scratched this message, "Please remit."

"Remit. Remit with what? Ennie thought her boy in thought. Then she tucked the bill in among the coppers and went back to her work. But two or three times she paused to stare out of the window. If, however, the most gorgeous spectacle in the world had been before her eyes she would not have seen it, so troubled was she because she could not pay Potter what she owed him. Conscientious little woman that she was, she felt a horrible sense of guilt that she could not buy what she ate, but must be trusted. This fact disturbed her more than the prospect of not being able to get more groceries when her husband should be entirely empty.

From the barn came strange sounds which presently attained a determined sequence. Ennie had been listening these sounds so long that now when they acquired a certain rhythm she did not notice. But as she bent over her washboard her husband entered.

He was all on fire with excitement. As she looked at him she saw that he had youth, triumph, satisfaction in his face.

"Hoorny!" he shouted. "It's going! I've got it at last! Ennie, I'll show you how to do a washing in two minutes."

He darted back to the barn and from it again bearing the thing he had been at work upon for weeks. Ennie stepped back and eyed it doubtfully as he set it going. He snatched a vest from the basket, thrust it into a vat, and the room seemed to rock with dynamic power.

"Wades Work-Saver! The best washing machine on the market!" he said. "Ennie, by the time I've sold a hundred of these you'll be riding in your own automobile!"

Ennie said nothing. She had learned that the wife of an inventor must express herself as little as possible. She hoped the thing would be a success, but she had her doubts.

Secretly she wished that Levi would give up fooling with machinery in favor of the law, and go to work at his carpenter trade. He was a good carpenter and he could earn money for all their need and more, but since this craze of invention had seized him they were getting deeper and deeper into debt. All their ready money had gone into things like the washboard Ennie had come to nothing. But perhaps this it certainly seemed to be able to move at least.

Ennie stood by passive, while her best sheet was chewed to ribbons. She could not spoil Levi's joy by a single protest. But she was glad when at last he shut off the power and put on his hat and overcoat.

"I'm going down to see how old Briggs is coming along with my patent," he said. "You know how it goes. Finish your washing with it."

As soon as he had gone Ennie returned to her washing by the old method. When Levi came home to dinner the beautifully cleansed clothing flitted on the lines. Levi glanced at the work-saver.

"Greatest invention of the age!" he murmured. "I'll have all those other fellows on their knees to me. I'm going to give an exhibition tonight at Potter's grocery. Ennie, I've been to the Teller office and they're striding off a hundred posters for me. I've hired some kids to peddle 'em. I guess Potter'll open his eyes when he sees the crowd I'll draw to his old shambang!"

Ennie dashed up the stairs and threw her coat on the top of the wardrobe. She was not much else for dinner. Levi glanced over the table with a disappointment that for an instant dimmed his glory.

"The first hundred dollars I get from the washer I'll spend in beef-steak," he exclaimed. "My, old girl! He smiled her shoulder and made her feel the tea she was young."

All afternoon he was busy, whistling, singing, running here and there. After supper he said to Ennie: "Now fix up a little tonight. Put on your best dress. Remember you're the wife of an inventor now!"

It never occurred to Ennie to plead an excuse and try to remain at home. Whatever came to Levi, she was his wife and must share with him. She did not believe in the work-saver, she did not believe in her husband's genius, but she loved him and would stand by him through shame and glory.

Therefore she put on her much made-over blue serge, her hat that she had trimmed herself, and her old coat, and helped him draw the cart that held the work-saver to Potter's store.

Mr. Potter was a kindly man, but the moment of that evening had to him a sacrifice which, under the circumstances, came little short of being supreme.

People passing by looked in and laughed. A few others, who had errands, stopped and stared in amusement at the performance of the machine. No one seemed deeply interested, no one apparently much considered a prospective buyer.

The second sheet and the towels had been chewed to rags. Levi's high forehead was scarlet and beaded with sweat, when a woman boldly entered the store and came to him. She was a big, rosy woman who fairly radiated vitality, strength, good sense and humor. But poor Ennie would rather not have been there at that moment.

For Kate Turnbull, who was now Kate, had been the first woman who Levi had offered himself, and her merry declaration of his love had rankled with him ever since.

"Hello, folks," said Kate. "What do you call that contraption, Levi?"

"Didn't you see a poster? Here's one." Levi handed her a poster which she did not glance at the poster. She seemed fascinated by the machine. Ennie, dried and discomfited, watched her warily.

"Do you expect to sell it?" demanded Kate.

Levi tried to smile. "I expect to sell hundreds of them."

Kate laughed.

As if the laughter had provoked the work-saver it broke from its moorings

McPHERSON NAMED TO BE TAKEN INTO ALBERTA CABINET

Edmonton, Oct. 12.—That before the next general election, Herbert Greenfield will resign as premier of Alberta and Attorney General Brownlee will assume the leadership of the Farmer government is the conclusion of many of the private U.F.A. members of the legislature who spent 13 hours in a nerve racking caucus on the question here Friday, the matter being prolonged behind locked doors until nearly one o'clock Saturday morning. Premier Greenfield was not in attendance at the conference, save for a short time after the proceedings opened in the council chamber Friday morning.

Despite the fact that the caucus was called for the primary purpose of dealing with the prospective resignation of Premier Greenfield, and that this was the big issue under review all-day and night, no definite resolution on the question was endorsed by the farmer members, as far as can be ascertained.

It was pointed out by some that Premier Greenfield was brought into the government leadership of the U.F.A. party in 1921 by the demand of the newly elected members at that time, in spite of the declarations of President H. W. Wood of the U.F.A., that only one man should be considered for the post, and that man was John E. Brownlee, at the time solicitor for the U.G.G., in Calgary. Mr. Greenfield was forced into the premiership, when he had not even been a candidate in the election, and they argued, it was unfair at this stage to talk of deposition because of certain party dissatisfactions with government policies.

Attorney General Brownlee, however, was pressed to accept the premiership in the event of Mr. Greenfield relinquishing the post. While he is said to be opposed to any change, and protested against being asked to take over the leadership under the circumstances, it is thought by a number of farmer members that he would be willing to take up the burden as government chiefdom in case Mr. Greenfield felt that he could no longer occupy that position.

No other drastic cabinet changes were debated. In case there is a change in the leadership it may not be considered necessary to make any additions to the cabinet before the general election which must be held by midsummer next year. The name of Speaker O. L. McPherson is being mentioned, however, as one who might with advantage be brought into the ministerial ranks in the new few weeks.

The question of by-elections made necessary by six opposition members of the legislature having entered the federal lists, was debated to some extent, but no definite instructions were given to the government as to whether or not a general election should be held instead of having a $30,000 expenditure for by-elections when a general election must be held within the next nine months.

"There isn't much chance of the boys letting go the $2000 each that another session would bring them," observed one of the private members while in the city. This bears out the opinion that the by-elections will be held this fall, and that no general election will take place until 1926.

It is the hope of farmer members that Chas. H. Leduc and possibly Edson can be won from the Liberals in the by-elections, thus counterbalancing the Medicine Hat reverse before a general election. With no government seats at stake and six opposition ridings to take a chance in, the verdict in favor of fall by-elections was pronounced in the caucus.

No such optimism, however, was manifest in regard to the Progressive chances in the coming Dominion election. The U.F.A. members were urged in fact to throw themselves with all the ardor possible to brace up Progressive candidates. While they expect to retain a few of the 1921 seats

WEATHER RECORDS TAKEN AT LACOMBE

Daily records of the precipitation, maximum and minimum temperatures and hours of sunshine have been kept since 1908, or for 8 years. Records of wind velocity and total mileage have been kept since 1923, and records of daily evaporation since 1924.

1925 has established many new weather records. Up to August 1 it was quite the driest and warmest in 18 years and the windiest in three years. The precipitation up to August 1st was only 6.75 inches and the only other year in eighteen which at all compares with this was 1909 when the precipitation to August was 6.94 inch, but with much lower temperatures. With 31 wet days in August and September and a total precipitation of 7.24 inches for these two months, 1925 has established a new record. In 1916 the precipitation for August and September was 8.27 inches but there were only 19 wet days and in August and September, 1925, there were only 24 hours of sunshine as against 449 in 1916, and an 18-year average of 474.7 hours. By actual records, Alberta is well entitled to the name "Sunny Alberta" but not this fall. 1916 was the wettest year in 18 years with a total precipitation of 22.91 inches.

At Ottawa there is a candid admission from some of the more outspoken farmer members that they will lose several seats to the Liberals on October 29th.

AVOID A PANIC, RED DEER FIRE

Re Deer, Oct. 10.—Fire broke out Friday night about 8:30 in a Jean-to shed adjoining the Rex theatre and spread rapidly. Chief of Police Stratfield was standing in the back of the theatre and was the first to notice the fire. The crowd enjoying the show left the building in an orderly way when the alarm was given and there was no panic.

The fire brigade was very prompt in arriving but before the fire could be extinguished the building was gutted, leaving little more than a shell.

Uncle Eben Jones went into a life insurance office and asked for a policy. "Why," said the manager, "you are too old for us to take the risk." "Ninety-seven come October," said the old man, and added, testily: "If you folks will take the trouble to look up your statistics, you will find that very few men die after they are 97!"

Inches as against the 17-year average of 17.21 inches.

Though the total precipitation to August 1st in 1925 was only 6.75 inches, there were a few good June and July showers. Rain fell on 14 days in June and though the total was only 2 inches, these timely showers, combined with 9 wet days in July, though with a total of only 1.32 inches, saved the crop situation and a good crop of wheat and a fair crop of oats and barley is being harvested. Alberta's crop depends on June and early July rains.

To the Electors of the Federal Constituency of Wetaskiwin

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Having been honored with the nomination for member of the House of Commons for this constituency, by the United Farmers of Alberta, I take this opportunity of placing before you some reasons for asking for your support in this election.

Having served for the past four years as members for the Strathcona constituency, the greater part of which is now included in this constituency, I feel that I can confidently refer you to my past record in the House of Commons in dealing with many matters of vital interest to you and to all the people of Canada. While advocating at all times what I believe to be for the good of Canada as a whole, the following are some of the particular things which I advocated by speech and earnest effort:

Elimination of Oleomargarine.

Exemption of small cheques from the Stamp Tax.

General lowering of Freight Rates.

Lowering the cost of living by a downward revision of the Tariff.

Provision for the appointment of a Grain Survey Board where need is shown.

Long Term Rural Credits.

The Immediate Return of the Natural Resources to Alberta.

Remedial Legislation for Soldier Settlements.

The need of a Dominion Government Elevator at Edmonton.

In cooperation with the large number of independent members in the last parliament, much good was accomplished, and the matters above referred to will still receive my best attention.

I am thoroughly acquainted with every part of the constituency. I know its needs and its problems. Using a farmer myself, I realize that the most outstanding need today is legislation which will secure to agriculture and to all industries, a just return for their labor and products, that will provide wider markets, and which will make for a contented and prosperous agricultural population, these things being in the interests of all the people.

The fact that I am bound to no political party, but free to act on all questions to the best advantage; responsible to the people of this constituency only, and pledged to serve them and to co-operate as an individual with all other members so elected in the securing of just and desirable legislation, should be a guarantee of my faithful service in the future, should you honor me with election.

Yours sincerely,

D. W. WARNER.

LANTERN LECTURE

The lantern lecture, under the auspices of the Church of England, entitled "With the Y.M.C.A. in Salonika" by Rev. W. J. James of Wetaskiwin, was held in the church of the L.D.S. and was well attended and greatly appreciated. The pictures reminded us again of the days when Salonika was frequently seen in headlines, and each picture was well explained. Mrs. James' recitation was greatly enjoyed. Delicious sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

"Fargo is being circularized just now by out-of-town concerns who are advertising travelling bags, raincoats, wearing apparel and other numerous articles for sale.

"The articles may, or may not, be all that is claimed for them, and the prices quoted may, or may not, be right, but leaving that out of consideration, The Forum simply wishes to again call the attention of the people of Fargo to the fact that just as good articles invariably can be purchased at the local stores at just as reasonable prices, quality considered.

"It pays, in dollars and cents, more often than some folks seem to realize, to deal with the reputable local merchant who sells you a reputable article at his regular price, and who has a merchandising standing to maintain in the community, and who can best maintain it through satisfied customers.

"These things being true, who should get the business? The local merchant, of course.

"Why? Because he is a fellow citizen who pays taxes which goes to the support of the town, the county, the state, the schools, the churches, the parks, good roads. Because he supports necessary charity and the hum-dred and one other things which make the community a better place in which to live. Because the money we spend with him stays in town, and, viewing the matter from a purely selfish angle, some of it finds its way back to us." Editorial from the Fargo Forum.

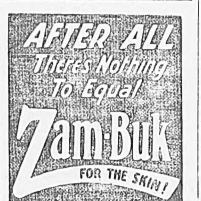

ON THE FARM

By E. J. T.
I'm just a common hayseed, But, by heck, I'm tough. Been farmin' nigh on twenty years And farmin' ain't no bluff. You can't sit down and worry 'bout The way the country runs, About them prohibition gals And beln' on the bum, You can't sit down and fret about The price of hay and lumber, It only turns you greyer still And don't appease your hunger. You gotta get a hustle on. The path—you gotta hew it. You can't sit down and say, "Oh, well, well let God do it." You've gotta get your milking done Afore the clock strikes six, If breakfast's over ere you're done, It leaves you in a fix. You can't expect your wimmin folk To wait your meals for you. The farm's a busy place for all They've got their work to do. The same as us, the difference is Their work is never done. I wouldn't kinda like to be A woman, no, by gum. The farm's a busy place to be There's work and some to spare. There's not a day goes past us But brings its load of care. But still we're honest farmers, We owe not any man, We've got a roof above our heads, We own this bit o' land. One thing there is—some envy us Through hours long or fleet At night time when we go to rest, Our conscience lets us sleep.

THE PRICE CUTTER

Tell me not in smiling numbers, Selling costs are what they seem, And the man who cuts for orders Gets the lion's share of cream. If you strive to build a business, Do not be a human sieve— Letting leak your needed profit, Trusting 'back will let you live, Lives of dead ones all remind us What it means to sell on guess; Their departure makes us keener To sell right and not sell less. For no trade can long be loyal To a man who's all regrets— Can't deliver—whose just living On the interests of his debts.—Ex.

"How do you like that new mare of yours?"

The alterations to the school house have been completed. This embraces a full sized cement basement, pipeless furnace, and removal of the inside porch which enlarges the school. The addition of an artistic porch to the front of the school has been made. Mr. Baldry of Wetaskiwin, was the contractor.

The U.F.A. local held their regular meeting on Saturday evening in the absence of the president, Mr. Rante occupied the chair. The chief business of the evening was a discussion on the ways and means of furthering the cause of the Progressive candidate, D. W. Warner. A communication was read from Mrs. Ross secretary of the Wetaskiwin Political association, which was adopted. It was decided to forward funds from the treasury at once. This will be augmented in a short period. Speakers will be arranged for and the district in general will be notified in due time. The reports of Mr. B. C. Young and E. R. Hoskins, who were the official delegates to the recent convention, were favorably commented upon and adopted. The splendid turnout at the meeting shows that interest is not lacking when the call comes to further the interests of agriculture. Another new member was signed up and promises of others will soon bring this local up to one of the finest organized in Alberta.

"HOW TO KNOW GOD"

The service at the United church on Sunday evening was well attended. Rev. Mr. Howard in his address, spoke on "How to Know God." He explained in a very plain and concise way that it was most natural for man to be religious. Religion is an instinct; mankind of all ages has had some form of worship, trying to relate himself with a great unseen being. This attempt to get into relation with the great unseen Spirit is religion.

"The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament sheweth forth his handiwork. Day unto day uttereth speech and night unto night sheweth knowledge of Him."

He exhorted everyone to ponder on the glory and wonder of the universe and to seek behind it all the great creator—God. The life of Jesus points the way to a knowledge of God. With Him, everything has a spiritual value. What the world needs today is "God Consciousness."

RIDDLES

Why is a tight shoe like a fine summer? Because it makes the corn.
Why is a hill like a lazy young dog? Because it is a slope up (slow pup).
What is the most impudent thing in your kitchen? The sauce pan.
When is a football like a freshly caught fish? When it is in the net.
Why did the top stair? Because it saw the compass point.
What is it that goes with a train, stops when the train stops, yet is no use to the train? The noise.

CHARACTER

The something called Character is not achieved over night or created at will. It is a structure founded and maintained by performance. No way has been invented to hurry it, but when it is attained it makes but achievement an enduring part of to-day and a guarantor for tomorrow.

If you flirt with Satan, you must expect to have a devil of a time.

VALUE OF LOCAL CO-OPERATION

STRESSED BY LIVESTOCK SPEAKER

The following article is a report of elect annually. Such a marketing the address given by Mr. A. B. Claypool, M.L.A., president of the Alberta Livestock Producers, Ltd., before the Camrose Livestock Marketing association.

The speaker of the day, A. B. Claypool, M.L.A., needs no introduction to a Camrose audience and gave a masterly address on the subject of "Local Organization." He explained that the marketing of livestock was different in all countries where cooperative marketing of livestock had been successfully undertaken, the basis of organization had been the local incorporated unit, these units being linked together by a central selling agency. This form of organization was adopted by the first general meeting of the Alberta Livestock Cooperative Producers Ltd., held in Edmonton, August 4, 1925, and has been recommended as a basis of organization in Saskatchewan. It relieves the central board of directors of countless questions and details which can better be settled by the local boards, who understand the local conditions and so allows the central board to give their time and attention to the things of general interest such as the marketing of the livestock.

President Claypool complimented the Camrose association on being able to organize a district of sufficient extent that they should be able to employ an efficient local shipping agent. He should not only be a judge of livestock, but should also be competent to keep his records and books accurately and ready for inspection at any time. In such a large territory the shipping agent would be able to serve the producer by shipping regularly and often. The large association will also be of value to the producer by being able to collect and ship full cars of stock of the same kind, filled through to their final destination, thus saving the local freight.

The central marketing agency is controlled by the producers through the board of directors, whom they tions are small, their numbers will swell them into a great sum. On October 31st "Red Cross Day" I want a special effort made in every community in Alberta. There are numerous ways in which funds can be raised. Your community can hold a concert, a dance, a tag day, a bazaar, a sale of home cooking or some other form of entertainment and send the proceeds to the provincial office. An enthusiastic citizen in each community can secure grain pledge cards, and interview the farmers in their locality, who will be found only too willing to help by donations of grain. All that is needed is a real willing worker actuated by the desire to help the less fortunate within our midst. What are you willing to do? Your best Government House, Edmonton, October 7th, 1925.

Sincerely yours,
R. G. BRETT.
